

Mercury Thermometer EXCHANGE

February 1-15, 2003

Spilled mercury from broken thermometers can harm those who come in contact with it – especially children and the elderly. Mercury should be considered a hazardous waste, and disposed of properly.

Help protect your family from accidental exposure to mercury by trading in your mercury fever thermometers for one FREE solar digital thermometer ($5 value) at any of the locations below.*

* Limit one per household while supplies last.
